DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the Amendment filed on May 21, 2001.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 18-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kadosh et al. (US 5,677,224).

Kadosh et al shows (fig. 1U) a semiconductor device including a plurality of field effect transistors, each transistor comprising a gate (130) over a channel and a deep source (206) and drain (198) region doped with dopants of a first conductivity type (P). Source (204) and drain (152) extension regions are integral with the deep source and drain regions respectively. The source extension is more heavily doped (P+) than the drain extension (P-). Kadosh shows all of the elements of the claims except the drain extension being deeper than the source extension. Kadosh does disclose that the source extension is deeper than the drain extension such that the device has a low source-drain series resistance and reduced hot carrier effects. Therefore it would have been an obvious modification to one of ordinary skill in the art to form the drain extension deeper than the source extension to lower the drain-source series resistance since a drain and source are made of the same materials and only differ because of biasing of the circuit. With respect to the limitations of the claims concerning the specific depth and concentration of the dopants, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the dopants at a specific depth and concentration, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

With respect to the limitations concerning the formation of the device in claims 21-35, a "product by process" claim is directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17(footnote 3). See also In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck, 177 USPQ 523; In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324; In re Avery, 186 USPQ 116 in re Wertheim, 191 USPQ 90 (209 USPQ 254 does not deal with this issue); and In re Marosi et al, 218 USPQ 289 final product per se which must be determined in a "product by, all of" claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old or obvious product, whether claimed in "product by process" claims or not. Note that Applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above case law makes clear. "Even though product-by- process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based upon the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product is made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985)(citations omitted).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Alvis et al. (US 5,935,867) also discloses a semiconductor device having a drain extension region.
